'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY UNION DUES FOR POLITICS

Years ago, when the Taft-Hartley Bill first came up for discussion, one of the arguments was that a union member ought to control the use of his dues for political purposes. For instance, a Republican member of a union ought not to be required to contribute to the Democratic Party by order of the union officials. As a matter of fact, some unions have gained enormous power by the use of union funds for campaign contributions. In effect, this is a form of political peonage and therefore is intolerable in a free society.
So, after all these years, the Supreme Court has come to the rescue of individual opinion and dignity by deciding that a man who is compelled to join a union because he works under closed shop conditions may veto the use of his dues for such political purposes as displease him. He remains master of his money. This is essential in a free political system where each individual possesses freedom of choice to decide his own course

Although as the decision now stands, it is limited to the Railway Labor Act it can and undoubtedly will be applied to other than this in-dustry. If its application is general, it can have

The central problem is that it costs so much to be elected to public office. In the days of Mark Hanna, a Republican could be sure of getting his contributions from corporations; today, corporate contributions are limited. The income tax has had the effect of putting a ceiling on private expenditures with the result that one has to be very rich indeed, either by inherited wealth or by "free money," that is, money that is hidden and untaxed, to make a sizable contribution to a candi-A recurrent idea in science fiction is that date. LADIES' PRIZE-4.200 MILE TRANS CANADA RALLY!

The smiling lady you see above is Denise McCluggage. With navigator Starr Hammen, she's just driven over 4,200 miles in seven days. One reason Denise is wearing the smile is that she and Starr won the coveted Coupe des Dames in this rugged Trans-Canada Rally, topping every other women's team entered. Another reason is that they beat some 90% of all the men's teams entered. In a rally, of course, you're given specific speeds (within legal limits) at which to complete each portion of the route. A minute early, a minute late—and you're penalized. Total penalties for Denise and Starr (remember, this event was 4,200 miles long): four

Their car was a Corvair Monza Four-Door. Among the very few cars that topped them were two more Corvairs-Monza Club Coupes, one driven by Trant Jarman and Jim Bickham, the other by Dick Doyen and Clay Gibbs, who won the Canadian Winter Rally and the Frostbite 500 (all three Corvairs, like virtually every entry, were specially equipped for rally participation). This Trans-Canada Rally, competitors told us, was one of the most searing tests of car and crew in the world. They fought snow and dust, mountains and lonely plains, all the way from Montreal to Vancouver, British Columbia.

The Corvairs won the respect of everybody. And "everybody" includes some of Europe's finest rallyists, not to mention a goodly portion of Canada's population. But then, winning respect is an old habit of Corvair. If you don't believe it, try a drive in one at your Chevrolet dealer's. You'll soon be a true believer.

DOROTHY A. NAREL Freeman Society Editor

If you bottle up your anger when it is aroused and keep a tight check on your resentment, you are being quite civilized but you run the risk of raising your blood pressure.

The people who say so are doctors, general practitioners and specialists polled by a leading magazine in connection with an party at my friend"s house. A article, "You and Your Blood Pressure."

Opinions of 1,038 doctors are reported in the just-completed a supper party at my mother's survey. Seven hundred and seventy-seven of them answer unhouse. Confirmation of the doctors' opinion comes from experiments reported in the article by science writer, Lawrence Galton. Researchers at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago have deliberately exposed persons with normal blood pressure to anger-producing situations. "In those who bottled up their anger," Mr. Galton reports, "blood pressure shot up; in those who freely expressed their anger, elevation was much less.

Dr. Jolliffe has these tips on good hot weather fare: 1. Cold cuts can be just as high in protein as a roast of beef. Enjoy these as good protein sources, along with cottage cheese and skim milk for a meal that's "light" but good for you.

2. Stay on a regular meal schedule. Even though hot weather

often dulls the appetite, your body still needs a consistent fuel

3. Eating itself generates some body heat. Have your biggest meal in the evening when outside temperatures are lower. 4. People have a tendency to eat less of everything in hot weather, which cuts down their essential vitamin intake. Vitamin supplements are important "health insurance" additions to your

5. Don't ignore those refreshing salads and leafy green vegetables that make summer cooking—and eating—such a joy; just

St. James Barrie's comedy, THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON will be the next show at the Woodstock Playhouse, August 1-6. This work is considered to be one of the funniest pieces written in the annals of the heatre and should delight local theatre fans. It concerns itself with the hilarious relationship of a servant to a family and his manipulation of them. It is a period piece and should be very colorful with its costumes and settings. Tage will direct as usual and Charles Grodin and Andrea Martin will be the featured players. He has made numerous recordings and appeared in all the leading folk singing clubs and concerts. He is considered to be one of the finest banjo players in the country today. This concer will be the second of the midnight series held every Saturday midnight at the Woodstock Play house. Last week, Marshall Brickman and Dan Kalb played to a capacity house. Their program included singing, banjo playing, guitar, mandolin and fiddle playing. Polari Gallery Is Popular The Polari Gallery, located at the Woodstock Playhouse, announced today that a great deal of interest is being shown in the exhibits. Sales have been numerous and traffic is heavy in the gallery. A three man exhibit is there now featuring the work of Ainalie Burke, Leon Boldin and Elias Freidensohn.

The next show, which is scheduled to open Saturday, Aug. 5, will feature woodcuts, prints wall hangings and sculpture by Carol Summers, Pia Alexander, Steve Burr and Sydney Chafetz. The Polari Gallery is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 9

Altman Further Proof Good Ballplayer Needs A Showcase

Sports Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK - (NEA) -George Lee Altman is a striking example of how the talents of a real good ballplayer can be submerged in a mediocre club.

Except in the batting averages, Big George Altman falls off the sports pages between big hits. The reason for this is that 15 years of frustration made all the Cubs save Ernie Banks comparative unknowns outside of Chicago's North Side. Banks alone escaped obscurity only because of his propensity for swatting the While Altman belts a full measure of home runs, he suffers the penalty with the aimless Bruins of being nothing more than an extraordinary ballplayer. He isn't controversial, stays out of trouble and doesn't pop off. That makes him one of the most underrated, underpublicized and overlooked superior performers in the game. ALTMAN, A LEFT-HAND batter just coming into his own at 28, has such tremendous hands that he walks to the plate swingng four or five bottle-shaped bats instead of the popular slimhandled models. Batting .336, he leads the major leagues in triples, which is the mark of the sound power hitter.
